

At Home Again

In October, 1853, a British tamulus was opened near Malien Castle, by Mr. Madden, who found therein a human skeleton, and a portion of the contents of the stomach, containing a small mass of seeds, which neither the operation of the gastric juice nor the lapse of probably twenty centuries had sufficed to destroy. Many of these seeds were subjected to various careful experiments to ascertain whether the vital principle was extinct, and Professor Lindley succeeded in raising fruit from several of them, and in consequence ascertained them to be seeds of the common rapeseed.

Manure for Indian Corn.

On cleaning out my hen-house last spring I had more than a wagon load of manure. I drew this into a heap, intending to drop it on the hill of corn as soon as the corn made its appearance. I planted one acre on the first of May, but after that the weather was so unfavorable that it was the end of May and beginning of June before I got through planting. Long before this the manure began to heat at such a rate that I had to unload it on the barn floor, and on going into the house a few days after, the effluvia from the opening ammonia was so powerful that I was glad to escape from the barn. Having some plaster on hand I mixed it thoroughly with the manure, spreading the latter thereon, and the manure remained on the floor until the corn was ready for it, and there was no further perceptible escape of ammonia. With this I top dressed all my corn, eleven acres, and had a barrel left over for other purposes. So well satisfied am I with the result that for the future I intend to prepare my hen manure in the same way and apply it to the same crop. I mixed enough plaster with it to make it dry and quite insensible to handle. I can speak of this from experience, as I dropped it over four acres myself. Now there is a manure equal in value, I doubt not, to the average of imported guano, which every farmer can manufacture for himself, and not allow them to roam about their premises and even on trees, wasting that valuable manure, as is too often the case. So highly do I esteem this manure that I make it my business every night to see that all my fowls are within their proper house.—Country Gentleman.

Trimming Grape Vines.—For many years we have raised grapes by the bushel from a single vine, and our trimming is done in the following manner. The first week in July we commence and cut back to the second leaf or bud of the present season's growth. Have a sharp knife and trim a portion every day (a little at a time) until the whole vine has been gone over. Autumn, winter and spring pruning are avoided; but we have large, nice, smooth grapes in abundance.—C. G. L., North Bloomfield, N. Y.

A Gambler's Wife.—One night of last week a married lady of Detroit, who had long suspected that her husband was a regular attendant of a certain gambling room, and was there spending the money which she and her children were in pressing need of, visited the room. Seated at a rough table she observed her husband in company with three companions in iniquity, who were struck dumb with astonishment at the apparition. Taking advantage of their trepidation, she seized two or three piles of bank notes lying upon the table, which she hastily examined, as if determining the probable amount of the "pile," and deliberately made her exit without saying a word.

The Hanging Spirit.—Jarvis Bailey, a farmer in good circumstances, residing at Tyrone, Steuben county, N. Y., a highly respectable man and a member of the Baptist Church, having settled his worldly affairs to his satisfaction, deliberately hung himself in his barn on Friday week. A neighbor of Bailey's, named Williams, hearing of the circumstance, went through a similar operation, and was found the next day (Saturday) suspended by the neck in his own barn.

Lancaster Bank Notes.—We learn from the Lancaster Express that a large number of the broken Lancaster Bank notes are still in circulation, and that the prospect for their ultimate redemption is very dim indeed. We can inform the Express that we know of several parties holding endorsed Lancaster Bank notes who will positively present them to the officers and directors of the institution, but will hold the stockholders to a strict account for the respective amounts of notes they have on hand.—Harrisburg Telegraph.

A Woman of Nerve.—We find the following matrimonial announcement in an exchange:

In Granville county, N. C., on the first day of January last, by Rev. Elijah Hostler, Mr. James Brogden, the father of eighteen children, to Miss Mary Cash, all of Granville.

Mysterious Vault.—A correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer at Jackson, Ohio, gives an account of a subterranean vault discovered there, in which the air was so impure that it was impossible for any one to go down into it. By means of a rake, human bones of gigantic size have been raised, and a small chest of silver, with coins, though much defaced by time, having the appearance of those in use among the Romans in the days of Cicero Africanus, though there were evident traces of hieroglyphic devices that cannot be deciphered.

Judge Tancy.—The rumor which has been going the rounds of the press that Judge Tancy contemplated resigning his judgeship in the Supreme Court of the United States, the Star learns from the best authority, is wholly without foundation. Chief Justice Tancy does not, and has never contemplated taking such a step.

A man who wrongs the printer out of his due and can never expect to enjoy the comforts of this world, and may well have doubts of finding happiness in the next.

In point of durability is equal, if not superior to any Metallic Roofing, it can be put on over tin, tar, iron, or shingle roofs, how flat or steep they may be.

In point of resisting the elements of air and water, nothing has yet been discovered equal to the Elastic Cement.

Those who have used it, have testified that it is the very perfection of Roofing, and that there is no further room for improvement. No one will now think of putting on shingles when this Cement can be had for much less money and will outlast four shingles.

This Roofing is warranted as representing the Elastic Cement is the cheapest and best protection from decay for wood or to the weakness or dampness of the system,

the best patent for iron, effectually
preventing rust, and therefore application of it most frequently excludes dampness.

The subscriber has this Cement for sale in quantities to suit. For further information

Scrofula, or King's Evil

is a constitutional disease, a corruption of blood, by which this blood becomes vitiated, weak, and poor. Being in the circulation permeates the whole body, and may burst in disease on any part of it. No organ is from its attacks, nor is there any cure
but the application of the Sanguiferum,
caused by mercular disease, low living,
ordered or unhealthy food, impure air,
and filthy habits, the depressing veins, above all, by the venereal infection. When it is a crisis, a scrofulous taint is variously manifested, depending "from parents to children to the third and fourth generation;" in fact it seems to be the root of Ilm who says will visit the iniquities of the fathers to their children."

Its effects commence by deposition from blood of corrupt or ulcerous matter, which the lungs, liver, and internal organs, is te-

the surface, eruptions or sores. This foul eruption, which genders in the blood, departs the energies of life, so that scrofulous persons not only suffer from scrofulous complaints, but they have far less power to stand the attacks of other diseases; consequently, vast numbers perish by diseases which, although not scrofulous in their nature,

One quarter of all our people are suffering from one or more of these diseases. Their organs are invaded by this lurking infection, and their health is undermined to the extent that they are unable to perform their daily duties. To cleanse it from the system we must remove the blood by an alterative medicine, and invigorate it by healthy food and exercise. Such a medicine we supply in the most effectual remedy which the medical skill of our times can devise for the cure of where prevailing and fatal malady. It is combined from the most active remedies that have been discovered for the expurgation of this disorder from the blood, and the rescue of the system from the consequences connected with it. Hence it should be employed for the cure of not only scrofula, but also those other affections which arise from it, such as ERECTIONS and SKIN DISEASES, ST. ANTHONY'S FIRE, ROSE, or ENTIPLEA, PIMPLES, PUSTULES, BLISTERS, BLAINS AND BOILS, TUMORS, ITCH, RASHES, STY, STIFFNESS OF THE EYES, RHEUMATISM, STYLLITIS, OR MERCURIAL DISEASES, DROPSY, DYSPNŒA, DEBILITY, &c. &c. Indeed, ALL COMPLAINTS ARISING FROM VITATED OR IMPURE BLOOD. The popular name of "impurity of the blood," is founded in fact for scrofula is a degeneration of the blood, and the proper purpose of this medicine is to purify it, to purify and regenerate this vital without which sound health is impossible.

AYER'S
Compound Extract of Sassafras

are so composed that disease within the range of their action can rarely withstand or evade them. Their penetrating properties search, and cleanse and invigorate every portion of the human system, correcting its disordered action, and restoring its healthy vitality. As a consequence of their properties the invalid who is bowed down with pain or physical debility is astonished to find his health or energy restored by a remedy at once so simple and inviting.

Not only do they cure the every-day complaints of every kind, but also many formidable and dangerous diseases. The action below containing certificates of their cures and dated for their use in the following complaints: Cough, Croup, Hoarseness, Pleurisy, Headache arising from Stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Pain in mid-Clavicular Junction of the Bone, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, Jaundice, and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or exhaustion of its functions.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the Relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of disease.

no wide is the field of its usefulness, and merous are the cases of its cures, that every section of country abounds in persons, widely known, who have been restored from almost every morbid condition of the lungs, and even desperate diseases of the lungs, by its use. When once tried, its superiority over other medicine of its kind is too apparent to observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to resort to for the distressing and dangerous affection of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon has gained friends by every trial, conferred life on the afflicted they can never forget, and cured cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.
